

Following national guidance from NHS England and in light of the continued low numbers of COVID-19 patient who enter general practices in England no longer have to wear a face mask.

Patients with respiratory symptoms should wear a face mask.

If you would like a face mask, please ask at reception.